

Learn Russian with EURASIA!

Russian is spoken worldwide by around 180 million native speakers and by around 150 million as their second language, and is the seventh most commonly spoken language in the world. The alphabet consists of 33 Cyrillic letters and with a little effort at the beginning can be learnt quite easily and quickly. Even the six cases in Russian should not put you off. Our qualified and experienced tutors will get you up to speed with both the spoken and written language in a short time – you just have to remember to roll your 'r's. Whatever your reasons for learning Russian – a fascination for the Russian culture, business contacts, communication with Russian neighbours or with friends in Moscow, this beautiful-sounding language of Dostoyevski and Pushkin is always enriching. And not everyone can claim to speak Russian...
